

GEORGETOWN SONS HONOR CARROLL

Founder's Day Dinner Is Declared a Great Success. Stirring Speeches.

Georgetown men are unanimous today in declaring last night's banquet the most successful commemoration of Founder's day since the plan of annually honoring John Carroll, father of the university, was inaugurated by the alumni several years ago.

Harring the usual June reunions at the college, it was easily the largest gathering of Georgetown graduates which has ever assembled. Every detail was most appropriate for such an occasion. The large ballroom of the Willard was decorated with streamers of blue and gray, while each guest received as a souvenir a small Georgetown pennant and a pin containing a picture of the founder.

Football, which of late has been a favorite topic and has been praised and condemned at graduate assemblies in every section, was left severely alone last night. Instead, speakers concentrated their remarks upon the records Georgetown has made in the field of education. Probably the most stirring address was that of Charles B. Landis, of Indiana, who pointed out that Georgetown has never sent forth a son in which she should be more justly proud than of Dr. Bailey K. Ashford, discoverer of the hookworm, and who is known as the savior of Porto Rico and the millions who suffered from this plague before its real nature was discovered by him—a graduate of Georgetown. Mr. Landis declared that in proportion to its numerical strength in students, Georgetown is the best known university in America.

George E. Hamilton, president of the national society of the alumni, presided as toastmaster. Among those who spoke were President Joseph Hummel, the Rev. Mark McNeill, T. J. Flannery, Dr. Tully Vaughn, and Dr. Woodward, president of the Carnegie Institute.

The music was under the direction of Prof. W. E. Horne, and the banquet committee consisted of Charles J. Murphy, chairman; Dr. Roy D. Adams, Edmund Brady, Thomas M. Harvey, Carl C. Mueller, James A. O'Shea, Dr. S. Logan Owens, Richard J. Watkins, and John H. Zabel.

AFFIDAVIT FILED AGAINST HASKELL

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 26.—Gov. Charles N. Haskell is wondering what will be the outcome of the filing of an affidavit in the lower house of the Legislature charging him with illegally spending the public funds. Representative Lester A. Maris of the Republican minority charges that Governor Haskell paid money to a private detective out of a fund that should have been used for the auditing of public accounts, and of making the same use of money appropriated for the traveling expenses of investigating committees. The affidavit also says that Governor Haskell's law clerk received public money other than his regular salary.

HOME PASTEURIZING

Of all unpasteurized milk by bringing it to the boiling point, then withdrawing, and keep cold and covered until used.

Parents are particularly warned against the erroneous opinion held by some that properly pasteurizing affects either the digestibility or the nutritive value of the milk, or that as a rule it produces any harmful effects whatsoever.

"O. O." FINDS WORK; STILL IS ISOLATED

Deaf Man Given Home, But Needs Instrument to Help Hearing.

"O. O." has found a home, but not his hearing.

His letter, telling of his tragic search for just any sort of work "an educated deaf man can do, from translating French to sweeping an office," and asking only the charity that gives work to the empty handed, was published in the Times last Wednesday. Because the heart of the world is so kind after all, this letter was answered by more than one person, and "O. O." who a few days ago had "only his name left," now has found his work, and with it a home.

True, this is much to be thankful for, but it is not all that those who were interested in his letter desire for him. They remember that his deafness alienates him from his fellows, and that unless this affliction is alleviated his life must be one of complete isolation.

"If I could buy an instrument that would enable me to hear I would be all right. But as one costs so much money I might as well wish to be a millionaire as wish for one." But $75 or $100, which one costs, is not impossible. One woman, who was impressed with the pathos of the situation, has sent $5 with which to start a fund for the hearing instrument. The Times will be glad to receive other contributions of any amount which those interested care to give. The $5 makes a good beginning. Will the reader swell the amount by a dollar, another five, or by whatever he can?

Those on the negative side were W. H. Clarke and J. R. Jones. A debate to choose a team to represent the local association against the Philadelphia association team will be held Saturday.

KNOCKERS KNOCK ON FEBRUARY 20

Noted Men to Be Guests of Famous Club at Annual Banquet.

"To knock and be knocked" is the lot of those who accept invitations to the thirtieth annual dinner of the Knights of Momo, known as the "Knockers," at Rauscher's, February 20.

For more than a decade this organization has lured many men, well known to the public, to the festive board. Once there, no one escapes the satire of the knights, but each has the consolation of enjoying the fun at other guests' expense.

Last year more than 300 guests were entertained. Among those who were placed on the grill were members of Congress, Government officials, and prominent labor leaders.

Distinguished Guests.

The invitation list for 1910 includes Senators and Representatives, Public Printer Donnelly, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Prof. Willis L. Moore, of the United States Weather Bureau, and many others.

International President James Lynch, President James Toole, of the famous "Big Six," of New York; President George Knott, of the Chicago Union; Hon. A. H. Officers are: President, Frank A. Kild; vice president, Thomas A. Bynum; secretary, John A. Huston; recording secretary and scribbler of the roll, Frank D. Smith; treasurer, Harry A. Watkins.

Committees appointed to make this year's dinner most successful will complete arrangements today.

SENATE ARMY BILL CARRIES $96,000,000

Subcommittee Adds $1,000,000 to Estimates Pruned by the House.

The Senate army bill will carry an appropriation in round numbers of $96,000,000, according to the announcement today made by Senator Warren. This is $1,000,000 more than was provided for in the House bill, but is $10,000,000 less than the estimates call for. It is $5,000,000 less than the appropriation last year.

Senator Warren stated that the Senate subcommittee had made its report to the full committee, and that the army supply bill would be reported early next week.
